

Funded by

Deutsche
Forschungsgemeinschaft
German Research Foundation

Universität
Konstanz

The Acquaintance Inference

Linguistic and Philosophical Perspectives

Interdisciplinary Workshop, Oct. 20-21, Room Y311
Universität Konstanz

Thursday, Oct. 20, 2022

10:00–11:15

The acquaintance inference and hybrid expressivism

Jochen Briesen
Universität Konstanz

11:45–13:15 Linguistics Department Colloquium:

On the role of experience and evidence: Empirical investigations

Elsi Kaiser
University of Southern California

14:30–15:45

An epistemic account of the acquaintance requirement

Katharina Felka
Universität Graz

16:15–17:45

The problem of factive obviation

Dilip Ninan
Tufts University

Friday, Oct. 21, 2022

09:45–11:00

Impersonal pronouns and the acquaintance inference

Hazel Pearson
Queen Mary University London

11:30–12:45

Evidential grounding everywhere

Fabricio Cariani
University of Maryland

14:00–15:15

Decomposing acquaintance

Malte Willer & Chris Kennedy
University of Chicago

15:45–17:00

Acquaintance content and judgment types

Pranav Anand & Natasha Korotkova
UC Santa Cruz | Universität Konstanz and University of Utrecht

Organizers

Natasha Korotkova
Linguistics, Universität Konstanz
and University of Utrecht

Jochen Briesen
Philosophy, Universität Konstanz

More information

jochenbriesen.net/conferences
<https://natasha-korotkova.github.io/ai2022-program.html>